

Making Information Available

At Kubota, we think it's important that people know about our efforts over the years to protect and enrich our environment.

Through the Internet and various forms of print media, we endeavor to keep people up-to-date on what we are doing, and why.

Environment home page

Since August 1996, we have maintained a home page devoted to environmental topics.

Our Environment home page covers issues such as environmental management and global environment problems, as well as our Global Environmental Charter, social contributions made by Kubota, PR activities, the latest available information on the environment (ISO-related), and an environment-related fortunetelling column. Our home page provides an opportunity for us to share our thoughts on nature and the environment, and to invite people to join in our effort.

"Global Index" magazine

Kubota has a long list of achievements in desert greenification, environmental facilities, and other environment-related activities. The "Global Index" provides a look at what Kubota is doing in these areas, and at our corporate culture in general.

The name was chosen to reflect the content, which is an index of all the diverse fields in which Kubota is making a contribution to the betterment of the society in which we live.
